The Daily Grind opened its doors in September of 1976 with the mission of offering the Capital District the best and freshest roasted coffee.

That was a time when most people had never tasted truly great coffee, and few had heard of espresso or cappuccino. Back then, Mr. Coffee coffee-makers ruled the day and most people purchased coffee in cans.

When we began, roasting coffee for retail customers was unheard of. We used a wonderful old Royal #5 coffee roaster, built in 1915, and became the only shop between Montreal and Manhattan that roasted coffee on the premises. In fact, we were one of the few retailers in the entire country to do so. Today we're still the best and we're still using our old #5!

In 1980, as business increased the Daily Grind moved to its current location at 204 Lark Street, Albany, New York. Over the next few years we had so many requests for a hot cup of Joe that we decided to open a café at the same address. Today we offer not only freshly brewed beverages, but we added a full café menu.

In addition to our Albany location, in 1984 we opened another café across the Hudson River in Troy. When visiting the home of Uncle Sam, please stop in at 46 Third Street. (272-8658) We offer the same menu as well as a variety of beers and wines. On Thursday nights, starting at 8:00 pm we also have an open mic. Everyone is welcome.

Over the decades your loyalty to the Daily Grind has helped our younger workers get a start in life, has supported our employees and their families, and has permitted our business to donate to many local causes. We've truly enjoyed serving you for thirty-five years.

Enjoy!
